

Environmental Health & Safety Policy

Senior Aerospace Metal Bellows is committed to protecting the environment and the health and safety of our employees, our customers, and our community. We will strive to prevent employee injury, minimize negative environmental impacts from our operations, and promote employee wellness.

We will continuously improve our safety and environmental record through our EH&S system and compliance with all laws and regulations.

Employee empowerment and participation are essential components in achieving our goals and maintaining our stewardship of this facility and the environment. A preventive approach requires employees to immediately report any incident or condition that requires review or remediation.
